

HAAVEN Community

Residents forge friendships, build trust and support each other through acceptance, love and empathy.

Living as a family creates opportunities to practice healthy social skills and personal accountability.

Shared experiences minimize judgment while enhancing daily growth and self-esteem.

Conflict and compromise fosters emotional growth and collaboration.

Housemates inspire each other to attend self-help meetings and encourage each other to lead healthier lives with a sense of purpose.

"I couldn't have gotten through those first few months without my housemates."
